the new online newsletter by Koffee Day Spa :: www.koffeedayspa.com :: Jan/Feb 2007

dear spa lover

My graphic artist told me, in December, that "7" is the number of completion and that 2007 should be the year to get things in order. This had me thinking for several days of all the things on a personal and business level that have not been completed. I am going to challenge myself to list all of the things that are not completed in my life and get busy because we all know how the year can pass you by.

Koffee wishes you well this year and hope that you too will get on board to getting things completed this year. We will strive to offer more services, great products, and wonderful specials so you can indulge in transforming your temple from the inside out. Well the time is ticking and I hope everyone is off to the race of completion and most of all if you don't take care of you there is no way in the world you can take care of anything else. Please make wellness first in your life so you can take the world by storm. Spa-cerly, Tyran
